Key: C

Genre: Rock

Harp Type: Diatonic

Skill: Any

Hello! This song has many versions, but I've used the Yardbirds' one to make this tabs for the harp bits. You can hear it using the Midi location. The song isn't too difficult, but it has lots of bends (marked with a "b" each one). Enjoy.

Crazy Train intro. I tabbed this on a C diatonic harmonic and have not tried it on any other keys, although I believe that it will work fine in any key. I think that the original song is in F#m so a diatonic in the key of A may sound the most like the actual riffs.

Here is the tab for "Long Train Runnin'" by the Doobie Brothers. The only way I can make this sound close to correct is by using the pucker method (opposed to the tongue block, which I have grown accustomed to) on most of the sounds. This is because there are some pretty rapid bends. Maybe if your a bad mofo when it comes to bending you can squeeze by this problem.

*Note: I find that many of the quick bends are easily produced

So he pawned all his hopes and he even sold his old car Bought a one way ticket
To the life he once knew,
Oh yes he did,
He said he would Be leavin
On that midnight train to Georgia,
And he's goin' back
To a simpler place and time.
And I'll be with him
On that midnight train to Georgia,
I'd rather live in his world
Than live without him in mine.

So tired that I couldn't even sleep
So many secrets I couldn't keep Promised myself I wouldn't weep
One more promise I couldn't keep

Make it somehow all seem worthwhile
How on earth did I get so jaded
Life's mystery seems so faded

I can go where no one else can go
I know what no one else knows
Here I am just drownin' in the rain
With a ticket for a runaway train

Everything is cut and dry
Day and night, earth and sky
Somehow I just don't believe it

CHORUS

Bought a ticket for a runaway train
Like a madman laughin' at the rain
Little out of touch, little insane
Just easier than dealing with the pain

8 -8 -87 7 7 7 5 5 -4
